Why should you migrate from Slack to MS Teams?

Microsoft Teams and Slack are both popular collaboration platforms that allow teams to communicate, share files, and manage tasks.

The choice between the two often comes down to personal preference, team size, and the specific needs of the organization.

However, Microsoft Teams is fully integrated with other Microsoft Office products, such as Word, Excel, and PowerPoint. This makes it easier for teams that already use Microsoft Office to work together and share files within the same platform.

If your team is already using Microsoft Office 365, they will benefit from a complete Microsoft ecosystem.

- Significant cost savings since Teams is part of Microsoft 365.
- Performance, Microsoft has quickly increased available options and functionalities within Teams.
- Accessibility, easily access and connect files between Teams and the rest of the Microsoft 365 Workplace.
